

Myles Rye

CPA FAIM BBus

Experience Summary

When Myles Rye joined the team at Vestra Business Advantage he brought with him over 30 years of management experience. With a varied career, from working with retail giants, running his own business, serving with the RAAF and holding senior positions in the public sector, Myles has developed a wide range of skills across all aspects of management and leadership.

Starting in retail and running his own department with one of the big chains, he moved to the hospitality industry and within a few years was managing a hotel in country Queensland and studying a Bachelor of Business before moving into management roles in metropolitan venues.

After completing his degree with a major in accounting, Myles went on to complete the postgraduate program with CPA Australia, and has continued to develop his financial management skills in line with his strong interest in management accounting.

Whilst serving as an officer in the RAAF, Myles underwent significant ongoing training in fields of leadership, finance, HR management and logistics. He served in numerous units around Australia, leading and managing large teams in complex areas of operation. He has a wealth of experience in managing staff and resources to get the best out of both through developing robust systems and putting in place sound measurement practice.

Working in senior management roles with the Queensland Police Service and The Shared Services Agency, the corporate service provider to over 13 government departments, he was responsible for instigating and implementing significant changes with excellent productivity outcomes. As a strong advocate of strengthening regional Queensland, Myles has successfully promoted the area north of Brisbane as a strong and growing economic zone.

Involved in a great variety of sports all his life, Myles maintains his interests in physical fitness through triathlons and the surf life saving movement. He is an active member of the Alexandra Headland SLSC as just one of the ways of giving back to the community, along with membership of various local committees over the years, including the Sunshine Coast Branch of CPA Australia and the Australian Institute of Management, of which he is a Fellow.

On the professional side, Myles maintains a strong interest and expertise in management accounting, HR management, change management, leadership development and business process reform. A CPA with strong broad intuitive general management and project management skills, he can assist you in defining and achieving your business goals.
